OUT & ABOUT WITH ARTIST SHIRANA SHAHBAZI

As a reminder of the ongoing protests in Iran, I would first like to highlight my three favourite Iranian places in Zurich: have a coffee at ANNY-K and try the vegan desserts. For a unique treat, go to KARIM'S WINE AND STEAKBISTRO. Have lunch at PAYAM'S KIOSK after your swim at OBERER LETTEN before noon on the concrete side.

For Lebanese food go to CAFÉ BEBEK. Shop vintage at LOVE AT THE BUS STOP or ELIF BOUTIQUE. Get beautiful flowers at FLORAL LOKAL. If you want to try something else other than Sprüngli, have JULIETTE'S PAIN D'AMOUR'S excellent French patisserie. Buy the beautifully designed books by AKI-VERLAG. For a quick great lunch around Löwenbräu, have MARIE'S SUSHI AT TOKYO TAPAS IN THE MARKHALLE or alternatively visit her son's GYOZA DUMPLING-BAR. Afterwards, enjoy Zurich's best ice cream at EISVOGEL. Try Swiss food such as Zürich Geschnetzeltes at HARDHOF or FALKEN.

Off Spaces, Independent Art Spaces, Artist-run Spaces and Platform projects are usually self-organised initiatives run by artists and curators. The diversity of projects is steadily increasing and makes it difficult to assign individual initiatives to a specific category. We can observe many overlaps, from hard line alternative ventures completely self-funded, to projects partly enabled by public funding or / and linked to institutions, to initiatives bearing similarities with commercial galleries. Many different causes accelerate and sometimes force processes of change, e.g. urban development changes which make numerous usable rooms disappear and / or adjustments in cultural and funding policies forcing art spaces to find alternative financing options. The consequences can be seen in the short-lived nature of certain projects, in the increased cooperation with larger institutions and the attempt to find alternative financing options. While the pandemic forced many initiatives to rethink their shapes and functions, these last few months have shown a resurgence of project spaces with a fixed address. The ZURICH ART SPACE GUIDE tries to record and showcase the many changes and projects taking place in the art world and self-organised cultural scene in Zurich. The ZURICH ART SPACE GUIDE is a non-profit self-organized association. You can support the project, please contact us.
